Slip resistance

DalRollo complies with the R9 slip resistance test.

To minimise the risk of slippage, it is important to use effective entrance matting around all external entrances, and to use signs when cleaning takes place.

Colour reproduction

The colour samples are designed to give you an accurate representation of colour. However, you should note that due to the manufacturing process, colours may vary slightly from batch to batch. Also, as with any type of colour sampling, the colours may be subject to slight variation over time. The folder should be renewed periodically to maintain accurate colour communication.
